

THE UNIVERSITY OF MELBOURNE

BIOMEDICAL SCIENCE ACADEMIC CENTRE PARENT CONSENT FORM

The Harry Brookes Allen Museum of Anatomy and Pathology houses approximately 10,000 anatomical and pathological specimens and artefacts and provides a valuable educational resource to members of the University community, as well as to members of the larger community, such as secondary school students who are undertaking VCE studies in related areas.

The Museum contains graphic displays of human body parts, including preserved human specimens. The University of Melbourne advises that some visitors to the Museum may find the exhibits confronting or offensive. The University of Melbourne does not accept responsibility for any losses, damages or injuries arising out of the student's visit to the Museum, including any loss or injury sustained as a result of an adverse reaction or nervous shock.

Students and their parents are advised to consider whether they should visit the Museum. In signing this parent consent form, you agree to release, indemnify and hold harmless the University of Melbourne from all claims regarding any losses, damages or injuries arising out of or in connection with the student's visit to the Harry Brookes Allen Museum of Anatomy and Pathology.
